THOMAS CROMWELL

Enquirer's Kentucky Correspondent Advises Democrats Not to Bet On State Election

In Sunday's Enquirer, Mr. Thomas Cromwell, the State correspondent of this great paper, advises all Democrats not to place any bets on Stanley's majority in Tuesday's election.

He says Fayette county will go for Morrow, and that while Stanley will win, the race will be close.

This sounds good to Republicans.
The Republicans are going to win this year. The death knell to Stanley and his mule is already sounded.

The betting at Louisville is even.

STOPS COAL HEAVING.

Special Officer Thomas Stewart, of the C. & O. detective force, has the thanks of the residents of West Second street for putting a stop to all the coal heaving that has been going on for years in the vicinity of Graves alley. The heavers, with the wagons, had been disturbing the sleep of the residents of the neighborhood, but since Stewart has taken the task in hand the slumbers of the citizens of that neighborhood have been more peaceful. A few nights ago he cornered a negro in the alley and captured a coal cart full of the "black diamonds" stolen off a passing freight train. The negro escaped the officer by vaulting several fences and doing some high running. Since that time the heavers has been as scarce as "hen teeth."

WILL BE FINED

County Judge W. H. Rice says that after the first of November, all persons caught riding on the model road, being built south of the city, will be fined heavily and given a work sentence. The United States mailman is the only exception to this order.

MUCH GRAIN GOING EAST.

During the last few days several trainloads of grain have passed east over the C. & O. This grain will be shipped to Europe, where it will be used to feed the fighting armies of the warring nations.

Miss Edna Leonard has arrived home from Richmond, Va., where she attended the Conalty-Gilmore wedding.

A GREAT REDUCTION

In going over our stock we find that we are OVERLOADED, and have decided to REDUCE STOCK, and it goes at cost.
This space will not permit us to list it all. One great bargain is 100,000 feet of an EXCELLENT GRADE OF OAK SIDING. This goes at $2 PER HUNDRED. All other yard stock greatly reduced.
Don't miss this opportunity to get what you want in lumber and building material at the lowest prices ever known in Maysville. Terms at this reduced price are CASH.

IMMENSE CROWD GREETSS MORROW AND FAIRBANKS

Speakers Drove Home Truths of Democratic Misan-agement and Graft

ARGUMENTS OF MORROW
AND FAIRBANKS CAUSE
EXPRESSIONS OF SUPPORT

When the special pulled in at 2 o'clock, the people who had been waiting so patiently felt more than repaid.
The distinguished gentlemen of Governor Morrow's suite were soon seated in automobiles and the procession, headed by Front street to Market; thence up Market to Third; on Third to Limestone and thence down Second street to the Washington Opera House.

When the curtain rose the house was filled to the walls and standing room was at a premium.

Chairman John C. McCartney, of Flemingsburg, called the assemblage to order. He then, in a few well rounded sentences stated truths patent to all. He then introduced former Vice President Charles Warren Fairbanks, of Indiana.

Mr. Fairbanks showed the effects of travel and hard work. He said in part, that "the special might not be on time, but there was one thing sure; that the Republican political train was right on the dot." He said that he was not here to make any speech, but was here to introduce "the Governor; no, the next Governor, of Kentucky." He did not state this in idleness nor to be agreeable, he said. He had faith in the people and he believed his faith would come true. That he had visited many counties and the condition of the public faith in one community was about the same as in other communities under like conditions.

"The people of Kentucky have been doing some thinking," he said. "Some good men do their thinking after the campaign is over, then they reap a harvest of regrets."

"While the world is undergoing a transformation as swift as it is terrible, it is a fine thing for a Commonwealth like Kentucky to take time to think of its political situation in times like these, so I have been thinking deeply while here in your State about the problems of Kentucky."

Why should he and others be interested in Kentucky? Because we want to take the first skirmish line in 1916. It is important we make no political mistakes. When in 1912 the policies of the nation were overthrown it was wrong. It perpetrated a wrong upon the progress of a hundred million people, in creating disorder and distress.

It is a fine thing to differ in political affairs. I do not hold it against my Democratic friend that he differs from me. I do not hold it against him that his policies stop the commercial activities and industrial affairs. I am like a friend of mine who said he did not hate his friend because he had the rheumatism, but he hated the rheumatism because it had him. I do not hate the Democrat, but I do hate the policies of the Democrat.

The American people are thinking, thinking as they never thought before.
Will we affirm or repudiate the error of 1912?

Our Industrial Conditions.

We have 100,000,000 people; three times as great as in the time of Lincoln. It requires a party of wisdom, a party of great capacity, to rule and manage the affairs of such a people.
We are no longer one of the greatest, but we are the greatest nation in the world. We need and want co-operation. Wherever I have been there has been shown a disposition to break away from party tradition. In breaking away, the youths show to their ancestors their political wisdom.

The Democratic party's master offense was the overthrow of the protective policy of American industry.
Time forced Mr. Fairbanks to close before he was near through.

Morrow Makes Forceful Appeal.

He was followed by Hon. Edwin P.
Morrow, the genial, forcible, logical gentleman from Somerset, who will be the next Governor of Kentucky.
Somehow it comes so friendly like to say "Ed."

He spoke of the time he has spent in telling the people of Kentucky where their money has gone. He has spent so much time trying to find out where it had gone that he had not had much time for anything else, the trail had in many cases become quite lost in the darkness; but the cards which are distributed will tell how your money has been misspent. The State is going into debt at the rate of $500 every working hour of the day.
The Democratic party has collected $2,000,000 more than any other administration, yet they are facing a deficit of more than $2,750,000. You farmers, small land and property owners are paying over 90 per cent of the tax, while the bonds and invisible wealth pay less than 10 per cent of the tax.

Through graft, extravagance and waste, about all that is left at Frankfort is the paint on the State House, the tunnel and the penitentiary.

I am satisfied that this magnificent audience came this afternoon to get its head filled and not its stomach satisfied.

It is right that the Democratic party should feed the people a little because they have made them mighty hungry.

On his way over to Cynthiana from Mt. Olivet, he met a farmer with a drove of mules. He was introduced to the farmer. The farmer said that those yearling mules cost him about $40 a head. Under Taft the same mules would have cost him about $80. He said when he put the mules up at night they woke him up early in the morning by braying "Morrow, Morrow," and he thought they wanted Ed.
Morrow for Governor, and prosperity.

He did not think the people wanted to put Mr. Gilbert in as State Superintendent of Schools, as he had been so closely associated with Barksdale Ham-lett.

Nor does he think they want to advance Mr. Creel, whose department stands charged with embezzlement by Mr. Goodpastor. He said he is a young man but he claims to have some old-fashioned principles of honesty, and how to keep his money separate from the peoples.

Mr. Morrow, like Mr. Fairbanks, had to close before he was through to catch his train.

The speakers were frequently interrupted by bursts of applause and cheers, the prominent points of their talks being caught with telling effect by the audience, which completely filled the commodious theater. Never before has there been a like crowd in the historic old Opera House. The lower floor seats were all taken, the boxes being occupied by parties of ladies.
On the stage a large number were crowded and in the wings stood many more. The entire available space in the aisles and at the back of the hall was crowded. In the balcony the same was true, while the crowd extended even to the farthest point in the gallery. Many were unable to gain admission. The crowd was conservatively estimated at from 1,200 to 1-2,500, and it was afterwards regretted that the meeting had not been held in the open and all could have heard the masterly addresses.

The long and arduous journey over the state has told hard on the eminent men and their voices were husky, but they spoke with that firm determination that wins votes and the attention was such that one could have heard a pin drop.

NOTES.

Attorney Robert Buckler, of Mt. Olivet, was among those who were taking in the good things said.

also came up from Augusta to escort the speakers to their city.

Rev. John Ruggles, William Pepper and George Edwin, of Germantown, were those who helped to swell the crowd.

Henry Metcalf, the "old reliable" of Bracken county Republicans, accompanied by Ward Metcalf, J. T. Williams and Mr. Teagarden made up part of the Brooksville contingent.

Those who rode on the Fairbanks-Morrow special train were: Hon. C.
W. Fairbanks, of Indiana; Hon. E. P.
Morrow, Republican candidate for Governor; Hon. A. E. Willson, former Governor of Kentucky; Hon.
George W. Long and Hon. John M.
Perkins, of Frankfort; Hon. John Coldiron, of Catlettsburg; Hon. Alex.
Johnson, of Louisville; Dr. A. S.
Brady, of Greenup, and two newspaper correspondents.

PARIS HAMILTON SURRENDERED

Murderer of Marshal Schowalter Turned Over To Bracken County Officials—Placed In Jail In This City For Safekeeping.

Saturday morning Paris Hamilton, aged 19, of near Brooksville, who shot and killed Marshal John Schowalter several months ago, in a drunken brawl near the courthouse in Brooksville, was surrendered to Sheriff Brothers, of Bracken county.

As soon as he was turned into the hands of the officials by his father, Hamilton was rushed to this city in an automobile and he is now confined in the county jail under heavy guard.
Hamilton is but a strip of a boy and tells the story that this is the first time he has ever been in trouble. He says that he will be cleared in the coming trial, which will be held in Brooksville in ten days.

Hamilton shot and killed Marshal John Schowalter at the dedication of the Bracken county courthouse at Brooksville several months ago. At that time it was said that Hamilton was drinking and endeavoring to shoot up the town. He was asked to stop by Schowalter, but instead of stopping he shot the marshal through the heart killing him instantly. He then drove out of Brooksville and was not seen for several months, it being supposed that he was hiding in the hills near his home.

He will be kept in the county jail in this city until the day of his trial, when he will be taken to Brooksville to face the charge of murder in the first degree.
